Vogelsang Wins Post In Vote

New Members Set For School Board Meeting Tonight

F. W. Vogelsang and Mrs. Dana Monroe Saturday won seats on the Cameron school board as Dr. George Bowman polled 192 votes in three-way race, Supt. Wiley W. Loughmiller announced Tuesday.

The new members will be installed tonight in a regular meeting of the Cameron board.

Vogelsang led at the Yoe High School poll with 358 votes while Mrs. Monroe followed closely with 332 votes, Supt. Loughmiller said.

Vogelsang ran for re-election while Mrs. Monroe and Dr. Bowman filed for the board for the first time.

Both Mrs. Monroe and Dr. Bowman filed shortly before the deadline last Thursday.

Two Seats Open

Only two seats were open in the election with the two candidates winning the most votes gaining the places.

Installation of the new board members will highlight the 7:30 p.m. Thursday meeting.

They will also consider a report to be submitted by Supt. Loughmiller concerning the periodic replacement of school furniture in Henderson Grade School and Yoe High School classrooms and offices.

Loughmiller said the plan would call for replacing two roomsful of desks and chairs per year until new equipment has been installed in the two schools.

Rec Program Up

The board will also consider the school system's participation a city summer recreation program for the third year. Supt. Loughmiller said the school furnishes one-half the cost of equipment and salaries for the summer outdoor program.

Also on the agenda is considering re-election of 50 white teachers and 18 Negro teachers in the city system.

CANCER DRIVE WORKERS — Miss Nancy Buchann, colonel of the Strikes Fan Club, looks over final campaign plans with her club captains for Saturday's drive for cancer Funds in Cameron. Misses Glenda Sue Gresham, Annette Mees and Pat Nesbit will be among 30 club members and school students seeking funds for American Cancer Society from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday.

Cancer Drive Set For Saturday Here

About 20 members of the Strikes Fan Club, a group of Yoe High School girls, will lead a four-hour membership drive Saturday for the Milam County chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Ten other Cameron junior and senior high school students will join with the Strikes group on a residential canvas for Cancer contributions.

Miss Nancy Buchanan, leader of the Strikes, is heading the young drive workers. Her captains are Glenda Sue Gresham, Annette Mees and Pat Nesbit, all Yoe freshmen and members of the Strikes Club.

Local cancer contributions will go toward the fight against the disease in the research laboratories of the American Cancer Society.

The city-wide drive is part of a nation-wide program to raise funds to find a cure and promote greater public understanding of the disease.

National figures quoted by the American Cancer Society indicate that one of every three persons contracting the disease is being saved. Officials pointed out that previous figures said one in four had been the national average.

The campaign workers will tour residential Cameron from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday. They will distribute educational material on the disease as well as seek donations.

Previous fund campaigns have made possible educational drives that have materially reduced death due to cancer.

Community Choir To Sing Cantata

The Cameron Community Choir will present Lawrence Keatings' "The Resurrection Morn" 5:30 p.m. Sunday at the First Methodist Church, Cameron.

The Community Choir is under the direction of Mrs. Joe S. Hickman. Organist for the group is Mrs. H. S. Thomas.

New Councilmen To Take Oath Tuesday Night

The City Council Tuesday night will install two new councilmen and consider a $2,300-proposal forwarded by Mayor Robert Weems for a property settlement on East First St.

Due to take the oath of office as new councilmen are Hayden Lawrence and Richard W. Mosely along with incumbent Lincoln Mondrik who was re-elected in last week's city vote.

Lawrence won over Clifford Thompson, 403 to 226, to become councilman for Place 4. Moseley won the Place 3 post and Mondrik tallied 417 votes to remain in Place 5.

Mayor Weems stepped into the private citizen's role during a special council meeting Saturday morning to ask for a $2,300-plus settlement for land needed by the city to lay a sewerline on First Street.

He asked that he receive one-third of the cost per foot paid for the adjacent Batte property. The city paid $1,500 for 79.3 feet or about $18.90 per foot.

The council tabled the request for further discussion Saturday after a question concerning property rights to the 376-foot strip was raised. A two-thirds vote is required to approve a financial measure. Councilman Mondrik was absent.

Weems said he would follow the council's decision on the value of the property.

Councilmen pointed out that part of the property has been used for years as a street by the public. Weems said the property was never dedicated to public use and believed it was his.

Plans for the "bloodmobile" campaign next week were formulated at a meeting 5 p.m. yesterday in Dr. Swift's office. Attending the meeting were representatives of local civic clubs and members of the Gallon Club.

Mayor Proclaims City Fix-Up Week

Mayor Robert Weems today proclaimed April 15-20 Clean Up, Paint Up, Fix Up time in Cameron in the first official event in a city-wide beautification and betterment program.

The drive is being sponsored by the Cameron Chamber of Commerce and the City of Cameron. Doc Hardin is chairman of the Chamber drive committee.

"During the next week every citizen should devote himself fully to the Clean Up program, at home, at work, in his neighborhood and wherever worthy projects need manpower," Weems said.

"By concentrating on beauty and betterment exclusively during this drive, we can make Cameron one of the best communities in Texas. For yourself, your family and friends, I urge that we all pitch in and make our city a more attractive place to live," Mayor Weems said.

He has requested that all city departments conduct a clean office campaign and generally co-ordinate their activities with the Clean Up, Fix Up program.

Houston Driver Escapes Death As Truck Rolls

Miracles car still happen!

One of the first willing to admit this fact is Grady Tillman, 37, of Houston. He was involved in a one-vehicle accident about 2:30 a.m. Wednesday just past Pettibone on Temple Highway.

A driver for a Houston trucking company, Tillman reportedly fell asleep and awoke when the truck crossed a driveway leading to a farm house.

He jerked the truck, loaded with black pipe, back onto the highway and the vehicle jackknifed and rolled.

Tillman was trapped in the truck cab for about 45 minutes before rescuers reached him. The crash had squeezed the cab to the size of the space beneath an office desk.

Taken to St. Edwards Hospital, he was treated for bruised left leg, fractured ribs and cuts and bruises. The driver was released Wednesday afternoon.

Pine was scattered about the highway for several hundred feet but was removed from the road before the congestion of daytime traffic.

Highway Patrolman Jack Straley was investigating officer.

Source Find Starts Move For Drilling

The Buckholts Water Board Tuesday night was to set the date for opening of bids for the new water well and final plans for its construction.

Board President Frank Tomascik told The Herald that the board drew up final plans on the project that was 16 months in the making.

When bids are let, Buckholts will see work begin on its first independent source of water.

Bond Issue Okayed

Buckholts citizens approved a $138,000 bond issue in December to end the cistern and water-hauling days.

Tomascik said the first test well was completed March 28, flowing 280 gallons per minute from Trinity sand at 3,448 feet.

The project has been conducted under the auspices of Milam County Water Control District No. 1.

For Buckholts, the test well was more than a welcome sight, Tomascik said. He heads the board which also numbers Adolph Gresak, W. E. Beckhusen and John Zajicek as members.

The four-man group spearheaded the community drive to get water.

Test Caps Drive

And their test well, flowing under a head pressure of 60 pounds out of the Trinity, culminated the drive.

The bonds are in the process of being sold, Tomascik told The Herald.

Natives of Buckholts have carried water and took it out of cisterns. And they have paid about $4 a load for a 1,000 gallons of the precious stuff, he said.

Water is hauled in from nearby Rogers and Cameron.

THE LITTLE RIVER PHILOSOPHER

Using the International
Touch to foul up the farm
By J. A.

(The Little River Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm explains his farming operations this week, or at least we suppose that's what he's doing.—Ed.)

Dear editar:

A lot of people tell me I don't know how to run my farm out here on Little River and they may be right, as most people are experts at not knowing how to do things anyway, but the trouble with these people is they don't understand the level I'm operating on.

I operate on the international level, and when you get up on that plane, it takes a different kind of sense.

For example, take the Suez Canal. It's an example of operating on the international level. As I understand it, Mr. Nasser, the president of Egypt, took over the canal last Fall from its builders, England, France and a few others, and England and France started a war to get it back.

Then Nasser sank 47 ships in the canal, and that blocked it off from everybody.

Well, then the United States and the United Nations talked England and France into calling off the war, which they couldn't afford to wage anyway, and everybody agreed to something. What it was, nobody seems to know for sure.

At any rate, the United States put up 17 million dollars to have the canal cleared of those sunken ships, and now that the canal is open, nobody still knows on what terms Nasser is going to let ships sail through it, except everybody feels sure he intends to collect the money.

This is what I'm talking about. You'd think we'd had some binding agreement with Nasser before we put up the money to open up the canal, or we'd have let him clear it out himself, since he said it was his.

The way it stacks up now, some body built the canal for Egypt, Egypt took it over, Egypt sank those ships in it, we paid for having them cleared out, and Nasser is still in charge without ever having put up any money, from start to finish.

This is known as operating on the international level and you can understand why my farm is in the run-down shape it's in.

Yours faithfully,

J. A.

Sermon Of Week Asks:

Ready For Easter In Spiritual Way?

By Rev. John Solomon
Pastor
First Presbyterian Church

Are you ready for Easter?

Perhaps this question sounds like a promotional slogan for a department store; indeed many businesses are trying to increase sales by endeavoring to make us realize that we need many more articles if we are to get into the proper spirit of Easter.

It is not my purpose to take issue with the ethics of such promotional schemes. It is simply my purpose to get you to ask yourself: "Am I ready for Easter?" from a spiritual standpoint.

Of course, many will feel that they are not ready for Easter unless they have a complete new outfit: shoes, dress, gloves, and certainly a bright new Easter bonnet.

Many of the men will fel that they can't get out to church unless they can sport a new suit—it is possible some of us need a new suit, but not simply because it is Easter.

Some will feel they are not ready for Easter unless they have purchased an Easter bunny and all that goes with it for all the kiddies, children or grand-children. Certainly we want to remember the kiddies at Eastertime, but is that all Easter means?

For some professing Christians, getting ready for Easter will mean denying themselves of certain pleasures during the Easter Season. I am persuaded that it is good for us to exercise the will power necessary to deny ourselves, but is it just good for us at Easter-time? It is possible for us to deny ourselves many of the things which we count as pleasures, and still miss completely the value and blessing of Easter.

To some of us the miraculous story of the empty tomb will seem as it did to those who heard the women report it that first Easter morn, as simply "idle tales". For others there will be sort of half doubt, with no particular significance for us.

But we will not really be ready for Easter until we can by faith run with Peter and John to the open tomb, and hear the angel say, "He is not here, for He is risen!" Only then will we be rady to fall down before Him and say with Thomas, "MY Lord, and MY God!" And I do pray that this will be your experience at this Easter Season.

SS Now Requires Quarterly Payments For Household Work

Maids and other household workers working here in private homes and earning as much as $50 in cash wages in a calendar quarter were reminded today that they are protected by social security.

According to John E. Dickenson, Social Security Administration district manager, Bryan, and C. E. Carlson collection officer, Internal Revenue Service, Bryan, housewives employing such workers earning the $50 minimum figure are required to withhold 2¼ per cent as social security tax.

The employer then matches this amount and forwards the total to his district director of Internal Revenue using the greatly simplified Form 942. Previous to January 1957 the tax was two per cent.

"Revenue's easy-to-use Form 942 must be filed with us within one month after the end of a calendar quarter. For example, April 30 is the final date to pay tax for the January - March quarter," Carlson said.

Dickenson explained that "women household employees can now choose to retire at any time after reaching age 62.

TELEPHONE TALK

by C. L. Carson, Manager

Have You Noticed?

Except for times when Mom has to let out a cuff or a seam, parents seldom realize how fast their children grow.

I guess that's because it's hard to notice much change from one day to the next.

With telephone service, it's the same way. Growth and improvement go steadily on and on — almost unnoticed.

One big reason for this is that you can't always see changes and improvements in telephone service.

Today, for instance, we may begin using some new rubber compound to keep circuits better protected from rain or ice. Next month maybe it will be something to help us spot cable troubles more quickly. Next year, perhaps a new way of making your telephone voice sound more natural.

Improvements like these, made behind the scenes, come along month after month, year after year. They're just part of our efforts to make your telephone service more convenient and dependable — and as low in cost as possible.

Programs For Your Group

Watching a movie at a Rotary Club meeting the other day reminded me to tell you about free-loan motion pictures we keep in our telephone film library.

Altogether I guess we have about 100 different 16 mm. films. All are sound-films — many are in color. Some are short one — just eight or ten minutes. Others run 20 or 30 minutes, even up to an hour. Any of these films would add entertainment to your club program or other group meetings.

School teachers also find telephone films useful as classroom visual aids.

Anytime you'd like to borrow a film from us, just call the telephone business office. If possible, try to give us a few weeks notice so we can make sure it's available the day you need it.

Also, if you'd like to call and give us your name and address, I'd be glad to send you a free catalouge that lists and describes the film and other program materials we have.

Just To Say Hello

Not so many years ago, placing a Long Distance call was a pretty big event. One you saved for important news — like telling the folks back home about a new baby.

It's not like that any more. Nowadays, Lond Distance calls often start off with, "We just thought we'd call to say hello."

I think this modern custom — calling just to chat — keeps growing in popularity because there's something exciting about spanning the miles to hear familiar voices. And, of course, there's nothing like a telephone call when you really want to get all the news.

Calling Long Distance regularly costs a lot less than you'd think, especially when you place calls station-to-station. That way you make three calls for the price of two person-to-person calls. And you can also get extra savings by taking advantage of the special low rates every evening after 6 p.m. and all day Sunday.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

Milam County's FARM SCENE

Swing In, Clean Up

Spring Calls For Sprucing Farms

COLLEGE STATION—Get in the swing and clean up for spring, is the latest word from the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council. The lengthening spring days will provide extra time for farmers everywhere to give their farms a new look and make them safer places to live and work.

Help nature by cleaning up around the farm and in the farm home. Make it easy to keep clean too, the Council urges, by assigning everything a definite place tem.

Eliminate fall hazards by keeping and keeping it there.

Disorder Causes Accidents

Disorder ranks second only to poor judgment as a cause of accidents, according to Safety Council statistics. One out of every five people contacted in a recent study of hospitalized home accident cases was put there by disorder. Accidents happen far more often in cluttered, untidy surroundings.

Fire finds a breeding place in paper, rags and rubbish tucked into closets, attics or corners. Volatile fuels, paint, cleaners and insecticides are other important fire hazards. Check your farm for overloaded circuits; lubricate all electric motors; and take a good look at your home ventilating sysing stairs, halls and alleyways clear of obstructions. Check light bulbs and clean all lamp shades to make stairs and hallways safer.

Objects Cuse Injuries

Careless clean-up practices can result in serious foot injuries to humans and livestock. Remove nails from used boards; pick up broken glass and loose wire.

Rodents don't like a clean farmstead! Creating an atmosphere of cleanliness will help rid your farm of countless rodent-influenced dangers such as disease, fire and building deterioration.

Include a paint-up campaign in your spring cleaning for safety as well as appearance. It can accentuate hazards! Remember, a clean and orderly farm produces more at lower cost.

Soil Conservation Helps During Rains

Soil Conservation Service personnel at Temple show that recent rains have done less damage to the land on farms cooperating with the Central Texas Soil Conservation District. Severe gullying and soil loss are noticeable where soil conservation practices were not followed, according to the board of supervisors.

Carl Beard, district cooperator north of Pendleton, has been farming the conservation way since 1935. He is still on the job taking care of his land to keep it in top production.

Other cooperators in the neighborhood on whose farms a conservation program has given good protection are the following: Jack Miller, M. T. Miller, Rush Leigh, J. F. Bouldin, William Berry, L. B. Tomlin, Alex Dooley and Lee Roy Tate.

Ground Moisture Delays Planting, Moore Says

County farmers faced a happy dilemna last week as continued heavy ground moisture delayed general crop planting, County Agent J. D. Moore said Monday.

In his weekly report to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Moore said that oats, barley and wheat were enjoying excellent growth while oats are "heading out" and will make fine hay or grain.

Truck crops, however, were in the ground, Moore said, and are off to a good start if present moisture conditions prevail. He listed tomatoes, cabbage, beans, peas, canteloupes and watermelons already planted. No serious frost damage was reported.

The rosy picture also prevailed in the county livestock picture, Moore continued. Prospects for cattle profits were rated good by Moore as prices were strong. He predicted that favorable market conditions would remain through June.

And he said that stock water is adequate at present.

He said no cotton had been planted although planting time is at hand. He advised that farmers should treat cottonseed with ceresan to prevent seedling disease.

The same story—too much ground moisture—kpt farmers from planting very much corn and maize.

Moore said corn already planted is up to a good stand and will respond well to warm, fair weather.

Even the weeds were growing well, Agent Moore wrote. All plants made excellent growth, calling for plowing to rid some fields of the weeds.

Robert Fulton, inventor of the steamboat, was an avid submarine enthusiast. He built several submersible warships, one of which was known as the Nautilus.

Do you know that every four minutes someone is saved from cancer? This year about $150,000 Americans will be saved from cancer, says the American Cancer Society.

SAVING YOUR SOIL

By Your Area Soil Conservationist

A coastal Bermuda grass nursery is being established by District Cooperator Volney Whittington on his farm east of Holland in the Vilas Community.

Approximately ten acres of sandy land has been planted to Coastal Bermuda grass and fertilized with 30-30-0 per acre on the Whittington farm.

One of the primary purposes of this planting is to provide a local source of harvestable Coastal Bermuda grass roots for cooperators of the Little River-San Gabriel Soil Conservation District.

Board Boosts Project

The board of supervisors of the district has encouraged cooperator Whittington to install such a project in the interest of supplying the needs of cooperators throughout the entire area with a local supply of coastal Bermuda grass planting material.

The under ground fleshy roots of this grass are most desirable for planting purposes and for this reason the grass must be grown on open natured sandy soils that will shake free of the roots if they are to be economically harvested and transplanted in quantity.

Cost of planting material this year has run approximately one dollar per bushel, with no local supply available, and to which must be added transportation costs.

8 Bushels Recommended

Soil Conservation Service personnel serving the District recommend that a minimum planting should bt eight bushels per acre or approximately 10 cubic feet.

Jim Pope's Rooter May Return Post Oak Wastes To Grazing

By Frank Luecke

A Granger farmer may have the answer to the how-to-graze-there riddle of the post oak pasture waste land south of the Little River in Milam County.

Jim Pope, rated an excellent conservation farmer by county soil authorities, has moved in heavy rooting equipment on 10 acres of the T. R. Allen farm, near Hanover Rd., and cleared the land for seeding.

Next step, Pope says, will be seeding the area with a mixture of Buffet Bermuda, Blue Panic and Weeping Love grass. And then he and the Soil Conservation Service will await the results.

Sprouts Start Spread

If the sandy land south of the Little River sprouts grass, Milam County may see an extnsion of grazing land that will engross the whole of tis plains area.

Pope's move to clear the dense stand of trees and turn the soil to grass costs about half that of older methods according to SCS estimates.

Milam Countians know, if they are natives, this southland area was once covered with tall grass and few trees. That was years ago. Pope's equipment could recreate the old picture . . and thousands of new acres for grazing.

The SCS office says cattlemen have been looking for a economically feasible means to clear the land of the post oaks for years. Reason: what little grass there is in the area now will feed only one cow to about 30 acres of land. Fewer trees . . denser grass . . mean fewer acres needed to feed more cattle.

Cattlemen, SCS says, know the area can produce the grass, but the trees and brush have to go.

Pope's rooting innovation gives T. R. Allen's 10 acres a chance to prove it.

Drouth-Struck Trees Need Attention Now, County Agent Says

While Milam farmers are enjoying adequate rainfall, they still face tree care problems brought on by the years of drouth, County Agent J. D. Moore advised this week.

Due to poor growth conditions as a result of the drouth, valuable shade and pecan trees need attention. All dead limbs should be removed. It would help to cut back top growth on all trees Moore says.

Here are some things to look for and do:

Apply Fertilizer - Punch holes in the ground around the trunk and under the limb spread area to a depth of 12 to 16 inches and apply a balanced fertilizer (Vigro, etc) at the rate of 1 lb for each 1 inch diameter of the tree trunk. Example: If a tree trunk is 10 inches in diameter, apply 10 pounds of fertilizer.

Iron deficiency is indicated by a YELLOWISH color in the leaves. One-half pound of zinc sulphate or copperas to each one inchdiameter of the tree trunk will correct this condition. This material may be applied in the same way the fertilizer is applied.

URGE ANNUAL CHECKUPS

The American Cancer Society says that annual health checkups are important. Of 1,000 women more than 45 years old entering a doctor's office, 18 are likely to have cancer, while among 1,000 men, 17 are apt to have cancer.

The frame is wider . . . wheels are lower
(Lets you ride sweet and low)
Never before has a low-priced car hugged the road so well. Partly, it's because the frame is sturdier. Partly, it's because the wheels are smaller.
